Claude, the leader of the professional football club, has a strange feeling - his team is losing ground and not enough victories are made. He is searching for the answer, as one of the most striking players, he must win in one of the rare tournaments. In order to get the right answer, Claude must go all the way to the last field to see the final side Description: In order to get the right answer, Claude must go all the way to the last field to see the final side About this book: For some people, finding a new place to write is the hardest part of writing, as this is when the original point of view is destroyed and the writing is made up of a strained text, rather than the full vision of the situation. In the case of Claude, the text is written down by the person who has learned to write in order to tell the story, but who has never been able to leave it alone.

This can be a terrible experience, but the writing is not always the story or the story is not the writing. The story is always written from within the writing. The writing is just a way of writing, and the story is the experience of reading the written word. As a scientist, I have found that it is very difficult to write a description of a story before reading the written word. The most often-used way to describe a story is to repeat another story. This is not an egoistic way, and it is not really the story of the writing. It is not the story itself; the story itself is being written. It is not a story; it is not the story of writing. It is not the story itself; the story itself is being written. The story is being written by me, and I am not the only one to do it. I am an artist, a writer, a creator; I am a storyteller. This is my story, and this is who I am. To the reader is the story of me, a person who is in love with the world, and who wants the world to love him back. This is who I am. To my world. And I love my world. It is my story. Let it be told. Synopsis by Welcome to the world of Tommy. Let me tell you a story.
