Designed with the latest Windows-based technology, A1 Jummfa Mp3Recorder has been carefully crafted to ensure a quick and full-featured recording experience. Learn MoreEffect of hypoxia and hypoxia inducible factor-1alpha on expression of HIF-1alpha target gene Glut-1 in tumor cells. Hypoxia-inducible factor-1alpha (HIF-1alpha) stabilizes and activates various genes in response to hypoxic conditions. However, the levels of expression of some of these HIF-1alpha target genes, including Glut-1, in tumor cells remain essentially unchanged, although HIF-1alpha is stabilized and activated. Here we show that hypoxia-induced HIF-1alpha transcriptional activity does not correlate with Glut-1 expression. Hypoxia-induced stabilization of HIF-1alpha is necessary, but not sufficient, to induce Glut-1. The expression of a reporter gene under the control of a Glut-1 promoter was found to be unaffected by hypoxia. Furthermore, hypoxia-induced overexpression of HIF-1alpha was unable to activate Glut-1. Using a deletion mutant, we have demonstrated that the C-terminal transactivation domain is required for transcriptional activation of the Glut-1 promoter. We identified a sequence of 16 amino acids in the N-terminal domain of HIF-1alpha (AFPAFPPEAKPRL) that is necessary and sufficient to inhibit Glut-1 expression in hypoxia.1. Field of the Invention The invention generally relates to a display device, and more particularly, to a scan driver of a display device. 2. Description of Related Art With the rapid development of the semiconductor technology, flat panel displays have gradually taken the place of cathode ray tubes due to advantages such as small size, high brightness, low power consumption, no radiation, and no constraints on the viewing angle. Among the available flat panel displays, liquid crystal displays (LCDs), having the advantages of low driving voltage, no radiation, and high definition, have become mainstream products. FIG. 1 is a schematic view of a LCD of the prior art. As shown in FIG. 1, a LCD panel of the LCD includes an active matrix display panel 10 and a gate driving circuit 20. The active matrix display panel 10 includes an array substrate 11, a color filter substrate 12
